 NANOS SURVEY

Summary

A comfortable majority of Canadians find it unacceptable or somewhat unacceptable for members of parliament and senators to accept free trips paid for by organisations such as foreign governments, businesses or lobby groups or for them to run a business outside of Parliamentary duties.

- Just under nine in ten Canadians say it is unacceptable or somewhat unacceptable for members of parliament and senators to accept free trips paid for by certain organisations – Nearly nine in ten Canadians say it is unacceptable (73%) or somewhat unacceptable (16%) for members of parliament and senators to accept free trips paid for by organizations such as foreign governments, businesses or lobby groups while one in ten Canadians say it is acceptable (two per cent) or somewhat acceptable (eight per cent). One per cent of Canadians are unsure.
- Over three in four Canadians say it is unacceptable or somewhat unacceptable for members of parliament and senators to run an outside business – Almost eight out of ten Canadians say it is unacceptable (60%) or somewhat unacceptable (19%) for members of parliament and senators to be directly involved in running a business outside of their parliamentary duties. Nearly one fifth of Canadians say it is acceptable (four per cent) or somewhat acceptable (14%). Four per cent of Canadians are unsure.

These observations are based on an RDD dual frame (land- and cell-lines) hybrid telephone and online random survey of 1,000 Canadians, 18 years of age or older, between December 27th and 29th, 2017 as part of an omnibus survey. Participants were randomly recruited by telephone using live agents and administered a survey online. The sample included both land- and cell-lines across Canada. The margin of error for a random survey of 1,000 Canadians is ± 3.1 percentage points, 19 times out of 20.

This study was commissioned by the Globe and Mail and the research was conducted by Nanos Research.

Methodology

Methodology

Nanos conducted an RDD dual frame (land- and cell-lines) hybrid telephone and online random survey of 1,000 Canadians, 18 years of age or older, between December 27th and 29th, 2017 as part of an omnibus survey. Participants were randomly recruited by telephone using live agents and administered a survey online. The sample included both land- and cell-lines across Canada. The results were statistically checked and weighted by age and gender using the latest Census information and the sample is geographically stratified to be representative of Canada.

Individuals randomly called using random digit dialling with a maximum of five call backs.

The margin of error for a random survey of 1,000 Canadians is ± 3.1 percentage points, 19 times out of 20.

This study was commissioned by the Globe and Mail and the research was conducted by Nanos Research.

Technical Note

Element	Description
Organization who commissioned the research	Globe and Mail
Final Sample Size	1,000 Randomly selected individuals.
Margin of Error	± 3.1 percentage points, 19 times out of 20.
Mode of Survey	RDD dual frame (land- and cell-lines) hybrid telephone and online omnibus survey
Sampling Method Base	The sample included both land- and cell-lines RDD (Random Digit Dialed) across Canada.
Demographics (Captured)	Atlantic Canada, Quebec, Ontario, Prairies, British Columbia; Men and Women; 18 years and older. Six digit postal code was used to validate geography.
Fieldwork/Validation	Live interviews with live supervision to validate work as per the MRIA Code of Conduct
Number of Calls/	Maximum of five call backs.
Time of Calls	Individuals were called between 12-5:30 pm and 6:30-9:30pm local time for the respondent.
Field Dates	December 27 th to 29 th , 2017.
Language of Survey	The survey was conducted in both English and French.

Element	Description
Weighting of Data	The results were weighted by age and gender using the latest Census information (2014) and the sample is geographically stratified to ensure a distribution across all regions of Canada. See tables for full weighting disclosure.
Screening	Screening ensured potential respondents did not work in the market research industry, in the advertising industry, in the media or a political party prior to administering the survey to ensure the integrity of the data.
Excluded Demographics	Individuals younger than 18 years old; individuals without land or cell line could not participate.
Stratification	By age and gender using the latest Census information (2014) and the sample is geographically stratified to be representative of Canada. Smaller areas such as Atlantic Canada were marginally oversampled to allow for a minimum regional sample.
Estimated Response Rate	Ten percent, consistent with industry norms.
Question Order	Question order in the preceding report reflects the order in which they appeared in the original questionnaire.
Question Content	This was module three of an omnibus survey. Preceding modules asked about cell phone plans, Bitcoin, North Korea, and the Question period.
Question Wording	The questions in the preceding report are written exactly as they were asked to individuals.
